

SECTION II

Crime Index Offenses Reported

CRIME INDEX TOTAL

DEFINITION

The Crime Index is composed of selected offenses used to gauge fluctuations in the overall volume and rate of crime reported to law enforcement. The offenses included are the violent crimes of murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault and the property crimes of burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson.

1995	13,862,727	5,275.9
1996	13,473,614	5,078.9
Percent change	-2.8	-3.7

The Crime Index total dropped 3 percent to nearly 13.5 million offenses in 1996, the lowest annual serious crime count since 1986 and the fifth consecutive annual decline. The decrease in serious crime was also evident among the Nation's cities, collectively. Within the city population groups, the greatest decrease, 6 percent, was reported in cities having 1 million or more inhabitants. In the suburban and rural counties, decreases of 4 and 2 percent, respectively, were reported.

Five- and 10-year percent changes showed the 1996 national total was 7 percent lower than the 1992 level and virtually the same as the 1987 total.

By geographic region, the largest volume of Crime Index offenses was reported in the most populous Southern States, which accounted for 40 percent of the total. Following were the Western States with 24 percent, the Midwestern States with 21 percent, and the Northeastern States with 15 percent. Crime Index decreases in 1996 as compared to 1995 figures were recorded in the Western States, 8 percent; the Northeastern States, 7 percent; and the Midwestern States, 1 percent. In the South, the 1996 Index total increased 1 percent over the 1995 level. (See Tables 3 and 4.)

Crime Index offenses occurred most frequently in July and August and least often in February.

Rate

Crime rates relate the incidence of crime to population. In 1996, there were an estimated 5,079 Crime Index offenses for each 100,000 in United States population, the lowest rate since 1984. The Crime Index rate was highest in the Nation's metropolitan areas and lowest in the rural counties. (See Tables 1 and 2.) The national 1996 Crime Index rate fell 4 percent from the 1995 rate, 10 percent from the 1992 level, and 8 percent from the 1987 rate.

Regionally, the Crime Index rates ranged from 5,727 in the South to 3,899 in the Northeast. Two-year percent changes (1996 versus 1995) showed rate declines in all four regions. (See Table 4.)

Nature

The Crime Index is composed of violent and property crime categories, and in 1996, 12 percent of the Index offenses reported to law enforcement were violent crimes and 88 percent, property crimes. Larceny-theft was the offense with the highest volume, while murder accounted for the fewest offenses. (See Chart 2.3.)

Property estimated in value at $15.5 billion was stolen in connection with all Crime Index offenses, with the greatest losses due to thefts of motor vehicles; televisions, radios, stereos, etc.; and jewelry and precious metals. Nationwide, law enforcement agencies recorded a 38-percent recovery rate for dollar losses in connection with stolen property. The highest recovery percentages were for stolen motor vehicles, consumable goods, livestock, clothing and furs, and firearms. (See Table 24.)

Law Enforcement Response

In 1996, law enforcement agencies nationwide recorded a 22-percent clearance rate for the collective Crime Index offenses and made an estimated 2.8 million arrests for Index crimes. Crimes can be cleared by arrest or by exceptional means when some element beyond law enforcement control precludes the placing of formal charges against the offender. The arrest of one person may clear several crimes, or several persons may be arrested in connection with the clearance of one offense.

The Index clearance rate has remained relatively stable throughout the past 10-year period. In both 1992 and 1987, the clearance rates were 21 percent.

Total Crime Index arrests, as well as those of adults, dropped 3 percent in 1996 when compared to 1995 figures. Juvenile arrests for Index crimes decreased 1 percent. By gender, arrests of males decreased 4 percent, and arrests of females showed virtually no change for the 2-year period. (See Tables 36 and 37.)

Between 1996 and 1995, declines in the number of persons arrested were recorded for each of the individual offenses composing the Index. Decreases ranged from 10 percent for murder to 1 percent for larceny-theft as shown in Table 36.

As in past years, arrests for larceny-theft, estimated at nearly 1.5 million in 1996, accounted for the highest volume of Crime Index arrests. (See Table 29.)

VIOLENT CRIME TOTAL

DEFINITION

Violent crime is composed of four offenses: murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault. All violent crimes involve force or threat of force.

	- TREND -	Rate per 100,000

1995	1,798,792	684.6

An estimated 1.7 million violent crimes were reported to law enforcement in 1996. This number represents a decrease of 6 percent from the 1995 level and the lowest total recorded in the 1990s. The 1996 estimated total was 13 percent below the 1992 level, but 13 percent above that of 1987. From 1995 to 1996, violent crime decreased in the Nation's cities collectively by 7 percent; the suburban counties recorded an 8-percent drop; and the rural counties showed a 5-percent decline.

Regionally, the South, the most populous region, accounted for 39 percent of all violent crimes reported to law enforcement in 1996. Lesser volumes of 24 percent for the West, 20 percent for the Midwest, and 17 percent for the Northeast were recorded. All four regions experienced decreases in the number of violent crimes reported from 1995 to 1996. The Northeast and West registered 9-percent declines; the Midwest, 8 percent; and the South, 3 percent. (See Table 4.)

Violent crimes occurred most frequently in July and August. The lowest total was recorded in the month of February.

Rate

A violent crime rate of 634 per 100,000 inhabitants was registered nationally in 1996, the lowest rate since 1987. Two-, 5-, and 10-year trends show the 1996 rate was 7 percent lower than in 1995 and 16 percent below the 1992 rate. It was, however, 4 percent above the 1987 figure. The Nation's metropolitan areas collectively registered 715 offenses per 100,000 population. The rate in cities outside metropolitan areas was 461, and for rural counties, it was 222.

Geographically, the violent crime rate was 707 per 100,000 inhabitants in the South, 692 in the West, 555 in the Northeast, and 537 in the Midwest. All regions registered rate declines from their 1995 levels: the West, 10 percent; the Northeast and Midwest, 9 percent each; and the South, 4 percent. (See Table 4.)

Nature

Aggravated assaults accounted for 61 percent of the violent crimes reported to law enforcement during 1996. Robberies comprised 32 percent; forcible rapes, 6 percent; and murders, 1 percent.

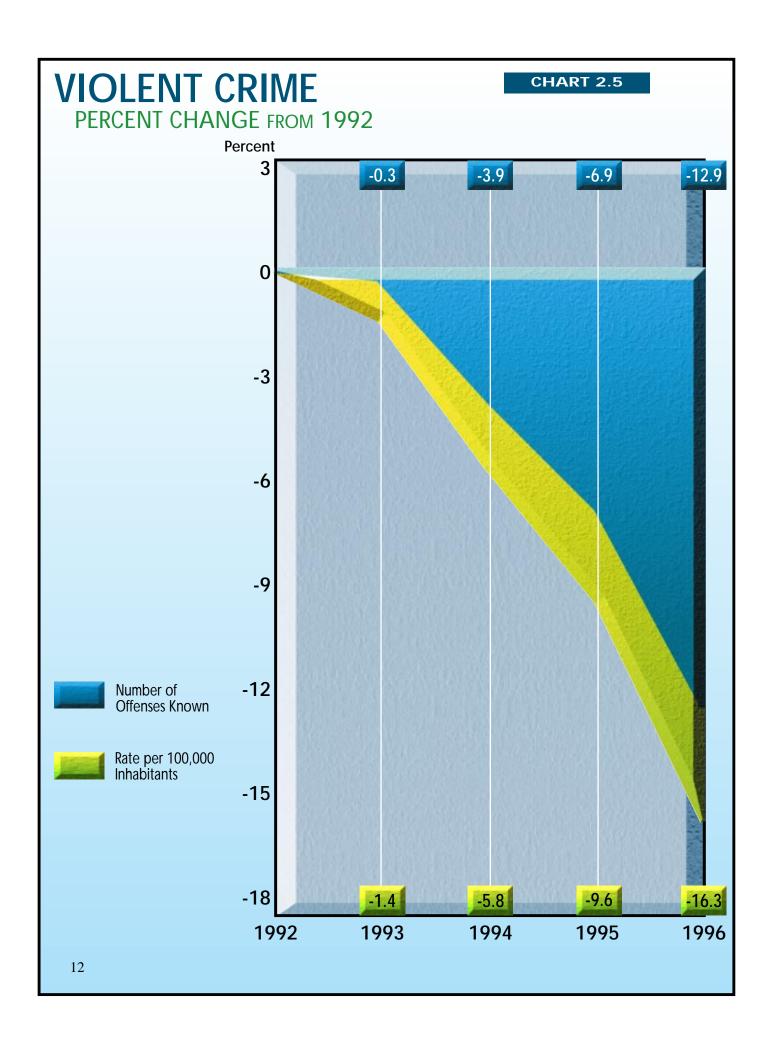

While data concerning weapons used in connection with forcible rape are not collected, firearms were the weapons used in 29 percent of all murders, robberies, and aggravated assaults, collectively, in 1996. Knives or cutting instruments were used in 15 percent; other dangerous weapons in 26 percent; and personal weapons (hands, fists, feet, etc.) in 30 percent. The proportion of violent crimes committed with firearms has remained relatively constant in recent years.

Law Enforcement Response

The 1996 violent crime clearance rate was 47 percent, up from 45 percent in 1995. Among the violent offenses, the 1996 clearance rates ranged from 67 percent for murder to 27 percent for robbery. Over half of all forcible rapes (52 percent) and aggravated assaults (58 percent) were cleared.

There were an estimated 729,900 persons arrested for violent crimes in 1996. Violent crime arrests accounted for 5 percent of the arrests for all offenses and 26 percent of those for Index crimes. Males made up 85 percent of all violent crime arrestees; whites, 55 percent; and adults, 81 percent. (See Tables 38, 42, and 43.)

The total number of arrests for violent crimes show a 4-percent decline in the Nation and in cities from 1995 to 1996. Overall violent crime arrests dropped 5 percent in rural counties and 1 percent in suburban counties. Nationally, juvenile arrests (under age 18) decreased 6 percent, and adult arrests fell 3 percent. (For a breakdown on persons arrested by city, suburban, and rural areas, see Section IV, Persons Arrested.)

MURDER AND NONNEGLIGENT MANSLAUGHTER

DEFINITION

Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter, as defined in the Uniform Crime Reporting Program, is the willful (nonnegligent) killing of one human being by another.

The classification of this offense, as for all other Crime Index offenses, is based solely on police investigation as opposed to the determination of a court, medical examiner, coroner, jury, or other judicial body. Not included in the count for this offense classification are deaths caused by negligence, suicide, or accident; justifiable homicides; and attempts to murder or assaults to murder, which are scored as aggravated assaults.

	- TREND -
Year	Number of offenses	Rate per 100,000 inhabitants
1995	21,606	8.2
1996	19,645	7.4
Percent change	-9.1	-9.8

In 1996, the estimated number of persons murdered in the United States was 19,645. The 1996 figure was down 9 percent from the 1995 count, 17 percent from the 1992 total, and 2 percent from the 1987 level. (See Table 1.)

As compared to 1995 figures, murder volumes reported in 1996 dropped 10 percent in the Nation's cities, 9 percent in suburban counties, and 6 percent in rural counties. The greatest decrease—13 percent—was registered in cities with populations over 1 million and in cities with populations of 250,000 to 499,999.

When viewing the four regions of the Nation, the Southern States, the most populous region, accounted for 43 percent of the murders. The Western States reported 23 percent; the Midwestern States, 20 percent; and the Northeastern States, 14 percent. All regions showed declines in the number of murders reported from 1995 to 1996. The greatest drops were experienced in the Northeast and West, each with 13 percent. Decreases of 7 percent were recorded both in the South and Midwest. (See Tables 3 and 4.)

Monthly figures show that in 1996 most murders occurred in August while the fewest were committed in March and April. (See Table 2.3.)

Rate

Down 10 percent from the 1995 rate, the national murder rate in 1996 was 7.4 per 100,000 inhabitants, the lowest since 1985. Five- and 10-year trends show the 1996 rate was 20 percent lower than in 1992 and 11 percent below the 1987 rate.

On a regional basis, the South averaged 9 murders per 100,000 people; the West, 8 per 100,000; the Midwest, 6 per 100,000, and the Northeast, 5 per 100,000. Compared to 1995 rates, murder rates in 1996 declined in all of the four geographic regions, with the West experiencing the greatest change, a 14-percent decrease, and the Midwest, the smallest, a 7-percent drop. (See Table 4.)

The Nation's metropolitan areas reported a 1996 murder rate of 8 victims per 100,000 inhabitants. In both the rural counties and cities outside metropolitan areas, the rate was 5 per 100,000.

Nature

Supplemental data were provided by contributing agencies for 15,848 of the estimated 19,645 murders in 1996. Submitted monthly, the data consist of the age, sex, and race of both victims and offenders; the types of weapons used; the relationships of victims to the offenders; and the circumstances surrounding the murders.

Based on this information, 77 percent of the murder victims in 1996 were males; and 87 percent were persons 18 years of age or older. Forty-three percent were ages 20 through 34. The percentages of whites and blacks murdered were equal at 49 percent, and other races accounted for the remainder.

Supplemental data were also reported for 18,108 murder offenders in 1996. Of those for whom sex and age were reported, 90 percent of the offenders were males, and 86 percent were persons 18 years of age or older. Sixty-nine percent were ages 17 through 34. Of offenders for whom race was known, 52 percent were black, 45 percent were white, and the remainder were persons of other races.

Murder is most often intraracial among victims and offenders. In 1996, data based on incidents involving one victim and one offender show that 93 percent of the black murder victims were slain by black offenders, and 85 percent of the white murder victims were killed by white offenders. Likewise, males were most often slain by males (89 percent in single victim/single offender situations). These same data show, however, that 9 of every 10 female victims were murdered by males.

As in previous years, firearms were the weapons used in approximately 7 of every 10 murders committed in the Nation. Of those murders for which weapons were reported, 54 percent were by handguns, 4 percent by shotguns, and 3 percent by rifles. Other or unknown types of firearms accounted for another 6 percent of the total murders. Among the remaining weapons, knives or cutting instruments were employed in 14 percent of the murders; personal weapons (hands, fists, feet, etc.) in 6 percent; blunt objects (clubs, hammers, etc.) in 5 percent; and other dangerous weapons, such as poison, explosives, etc., in the remainder. (See Table 2.11.) A state-by-state breakdown of weapons used in connection with murder is shown in Table 20.

In 1996, over 50 percent of all murder victims knew their assailants: 13 percent were related and 38 percent were acquainted. Fifteen percent of the victims were murdered by strangers, while the relationships among victims and offenders were unknown for 35 percent of the murders. Among all female murder victims in 1996, 30 percent were slain by husbands or boyfriends. Three percent of the male victims were killed by wives or girlfriends.

Considering circumstances, arguments resulted in 31 percent of the murders during the year. Nineteen percent occurred as a result of felonious activities such as robbery, arson, etc., while less than 1 percent were suspected to have been the result of some felonious activity. Table 2.14 shows murder circumstances for the past 5 years (1992-1996).

Law Enforcement Response

The clearance rate for murder is higher than for any other Crime Index offense. Law enforcement agencies nationwide recorded a 67-percent clearance rate in 1996. The most successful clearance rate, 79 percent, was reported in both cities with populations under 10,000 and in rural counties. Sixty-seven percent of murders in suburban counties and 66 percent of those in the Nation's cities were cleared. (See Table 25.)

Regionally, the highest murder clearance rate was registered in the Northeastern States, with 71 percent. Following were the Midwest and South, each with 69 percent, and the Western States with 61 percent.

The proportion of juvenile involvement, as measured by clearances, was lower for murder than for any other Index crime. Persons under 18 years of age accounted for 8 percent of the willful killings cleared by law enforcement nationally in 1996. Nine percent of clearances in cities nationwide and 7 percent in suburban counties involved only persons in this young age group. They accounted for 5 percent of clearances in rural counties.

Law enforcement agencies made an estimated 19,020 arrests for murder in 1996. Similar to the 1995 figures, 56 percent of the arrestees in 1996 were under 25 years of age, with the 18-to 24-year age group accounting for 41 percent of the total. (See Table 38.)

Ninety percent of those arrested for murder in 1996 were males and 10 percent, females. Blacks comprised 55 percent of the total; whites, 43 percent; and other races, the remainder.

Compared to the 1995 count, total arrests for murder decreased 10 percent. Arrests of persons age 18 and over also decreased 10 percent, and those of younger persons were down 14 percent. During the same 2-year period, arrests of males for murder were down 11 percent, and those of females were down 3 percent.

Long-term trends indicate the 1996 murder arrest total was 18 percent below the 1992 level and 4 percent lower than the 1987 figure.

Justifiable Homicide

Certain willful killings are classified as justifiable or excusable, based on law enforcement investigation. In Uniform

Crime Reporting, justifiable homicide is defined as and limited to the killing of a felon by a law enforcement officer in the line of duty, or the killing of a felon by a private citizen during the commission of a felony. These offenses are tabulated independently and are not included in the murder counts.

In 1996, the total number of justifiable homicides decreased 12 percent. The justifiable homicide total was 580 in 1996 and 657 in 1995. Compared to the 1992 count of 769, the 1996 total was down 25 percent. Of justifiable homicides in 1996, 332 involved law enforcement officers and 248 were by private citizens. Data on weapons show that handguns were the weapons used most frequently in justifiable homicides. (See Tables 2.16 and 2.17.)

FORCIBLE RAPE

DEFINITION

Forcible rape, as defined in the Program, is the carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will. Assaults or attempts to commit rape by force or threat of force are also included; however, statutory rape (without force) and other sex offenses are excluded.

	- TREND -
Year	Number of offenses	Rate per 100,000 inhabitants
1995	97,470	37.1
1996	95,769	36.1
Percent change	-1.7	-2.7

The 95,769 forcible rapes reported to law enforcement agencies across the Nation during 1996 represented the lowest total since 1989. The 1996 count was 2 percent lower than in 1995, and 12 percent below the 1992 level, but 5 percent higher than the 1987 volume.

Geographically, 39 percent of the forcible rape total in 1996 was accounted for by the most populous Southern States, 25 percent by the Midwestern States, 23 percent by the Western States, and 13 percent by the Northeastern States. Two-year trends show that forcible rapes declined 5 percent in the Midwest, and 3 percent in the West. Totals for the Northeast and the South remained virtually unchanged from the 1995 level. (See Tables 3 and 4.)

Monthly totals show the lowest volume occurred in December, while the largest number of forcible rapes was reported during the month of July. (See Table 2.18.)

Rate

By Uniform Crime Reporting definition, the victims of forcible rape are always female, and in 1996, an estimated 71 of every 100,000 females in the country were reported rape victims. The 1996 female forcible rape rate was 1 percent lower than the 1995 rate and 15 percent lower than the 1992 rate.

The Nation's metropolitan areas recorded the highest forcible rape rate in 1996, 75 victims per 100,000 females. In cities outside metropolitan areas, the rate was 68 per 100,000 females, and in rural counties, it was 47 per 100,000 females. Although metropolitan areas record the highest rape rates, they have shown the only rate decline over the past 10 years (1987-1996), 10 percent. During this same period, the rate increased in cities outside metropolitan areas by 45 percent and in rural counties by 31 percent.

By region in 1996, the highest female rape rate was in the Southern States, which recorded 79 victims per 100,000 females. Following were the Midwestern States with a rate of 75; the Western States with a rate of 73; and the Northeastern States with a rate of 49. Since 1995, forcible rape rates declined 4 percent in the Midwest, 3 percent in the West and 1 percent in the South. The Northeast's rate remained the same.

Over the last 10 years, female forcible rape rate decreases were recorded in two regions. Rates in the Northeast and West showed a 14- and 12-percent decreases, respectively, and those the Southern and Midwestern States increased 4 percent each.

Nature

Rapes by force constitute the greatest percentage of total forcible rapes, 87 percent of the 1996 incidents. The remainder were attempts or assaults to commit forcible rape. The number of rapes by force decreased 3 percent in 1996 from the 1995 volume, and attempts to rape decreased 4 percent.

As with all other Crime Index offenses, complaints of forcible rape made to law enforcement agencies are sometimes found to be false or baseless. In such cases, law enforcement agencies "unfound" the offenses and exclude them from crime counts. The "unfounded" rate, or percentage of complaints determined through investigation to be false, is higher for forcible rape than for any other Index crime. Eight percent of forcible rape complaints in 1996 were "unfounded," while the average for all Index crimes was 2 percent.

Law Enforcement Response

In 1996, over half of the forcible rapes reported to law enforcement nationwide were cleared by arrest or exceptional means. Rural and suburban county law enforcement clearance rates, each at 53 percent, were slightly higher than the city law enforcement clearance rate at 52 percent. (See Table 25.)

By geographic region, forcible rape clearance rates in 1996 were 57 percent in the South, 53 percent in the Northeast, 49 percent in the Midwest, and 46 percent in the West. (See Table 26.)

Of the total clearances for forcible rape in the country as a whole, 12 percent involved only persons under 18 years of age. The percentage of juvenile involvement varied by community type, ranging from 11 percent in the Nation's cities to 13 percent in rural counties. (See Table 28.)

Participating law enforcement agencies throughout the Nation made an estimated 33,050 arrests for forcible rape in 1996. Of the forcible rape arrestees, 44 percent were under age 25. Fifty-six percent of those arrested were white. (See Tables 29, 41, and 43.)

The national arrest total for forcible rape fell 2 percent from 1995 to 1996. Arrests also declined 2 percent both in the Nation's cities and rural counties and 1 percent in the suburban counties. (See Tables 36, 44, 50, and 56.)

ROBBERY

DEFINITION

Robbery is the taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear.

	TREND —
Year	Number of offenses	Rate per 100,000 inhabitants
1995	580,509	220.9
1996	537,050	202.4
Percent change	-7.5	-8.4

Nationally, the 1996 estimated robbery total, 537,050, was the lowest since 1987. The robbery volume for 1996 was down 7 percent from the 1995 national total and registered an 8-percent decrease in the Nation's cities. The largest decline—10 percent—was reported by cities with 1 million or more inhabitants. During the same period, the robbery volume dropped 6 percent in suburban counties and fell 2 percent in rural counties. (See Table 12.)

Regionally, the Southern States, the most populous area of the Nation, accounted for 35 percent of all reported robberies. The Western States followed with 24 percent, the Northeastern States with 22 percent, and the Midwestern States with 19 percent. (See Table 3.) Two-year trends show the number of robberies in 1996 was down in all regions as compared to 1995 figures. The Northeast and Midwest marked an 11-percent decrease, the West an 8-percent drop, and the South a 3-percent decline.

The national trend in the robbery volume, as well as the robbery rate, is presented in Chart 2.8 for the years 1992-1996. In 1996, the number of robbery offenses was 20 percent lower than in 1992 but 4 percent higher than in 1987.

Monthly volume figures for 1996 show robberies occurred most frequently in January and December and least often in April.

Rate

The national robbery rate in 1996 was 202 per 100,000 people, 8 percent lower than in 1995. In metropolitan areas, the 1996 rate was 244; in cities outside metropolitan areas, it was

72; and in the rural areas, it was 16. With 674 robberies per 100,000 inhabitants, the highest rate was recorded in cities with populations 1 million and over. (See Table 16.)

Robbery rates per 100,000 inhabitants declined in all regions from 1995 to 1996. The rates of 232 in the Northeast and 161 in the Midwest were down 11 percent. The West's rate of 219 was 9 percent lower than it was in 1995, and the South's rate of 203 was down 4 percent. (See Table 4.)

Nature

During 1996, losses estimated at nearly $500 million were attributed to robberies. The value of property stolen averaged $929 per robbery, up from $873 in 1995. Average dollar losses in 1996 ranged from $487 taken during robberies of gas or service stations to $4,207 per bank robbery. (See Table 23.) The impact of this violent crime on its victims cannot be measured in terms of monetary loss alone. While the object of a robbery is to obtain money or property, the crime always involves force or threat of force, and many victims suffer serious personal injury.

More than half (51 percent) of the offenses in this category during 1996 were robberies on streets or highways. Robberies of commercial and financial establishments accounted for 24 percent, and those occurring at residences, 11 percent. The remainder were miscellaneous types. All robbery types declined in 1996 as compared to 1995 totals, with the exception of bank robbery which increased by 14 percent. Among the remaining robbery types, decreases ranged from 11 percent for those committed on streets and highways to less than 1 percent for commercial house robberies. (See Table 23.)

In 1996, firearms were the weapons used in 41 percent of all robberies. Strong-arm tactics were used in 39 percent, knives or cutting instruments in 9 percent, and other dangerous weapons were involved in the remainder. A comparison of 1995 and 1996 robbery totals by weapon show robberies committed using knives or other cutting instruments decreased 9 percent; those using strong-arm tactics decreased 8 percent; those with firearms declined 7 percent; and those with other dangerous weapons dropped 6 percent. A state-by-state breakdown of weapons used in robberies in 1996 is shown in Table 21.

Law Enforcement Response

The 1996 robbery clearance rate was 27 percent nationally. The highest robbery clearance rate—42 percent—was registered by rural county law enforcement agencies; suburban counties recorded a rate of 28 percent. In the Nation's cities collectively, it was 27 percent, with cities under 10,000 in population having the highest clearance rate, 37 percent. (See Table 25.) Regional robbery clearance percentages ranged from 29 percent in the Northeast to 25 percent in the West. (See Table 26.)

Persons under the age of 18, exclusively, were the offenders in 18 percent of all 1996 robbery clearances. This age group accounted for 17 percent of the suburban county clearances, 18 percent of those in the Nation's cities, and 12 percent of those in rural county agencies. (See Table 28.)

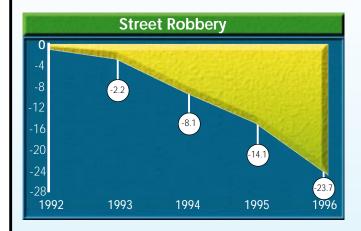

Nationwide, 7 percent fewer persons were arrested for robbery in 1996 than in 1995. For the 2-year period, juvenile arrests for robbery declined 8 percent; those of adults decreased 6 percent. Following the national trend, the number of robbery arrests dropped 7 percent both in the Nation's cities collectively and in rural counties. Suburban counties recorded a 2-percent decline.

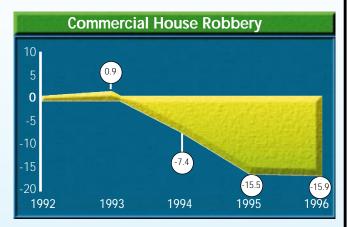

Considering the 5-year period, 1992-1996, arrests of males and total arrests for robbery were down 12 and 10 percent, respectively, while arrests of females were up 2 percent. For the same timespan, arrests of persons 18 years of age and older decreased 17 percent, but juvenile arrests rose 7 percent.

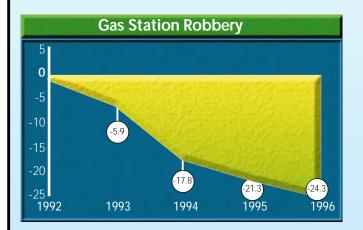

Of all robbery arrestees in 1996, 65 percent were under 25 years of age, and 90 percent were males. Fifty-eight percent of those arrested were black, 40 percent were white, and the remainder were of other races.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT

DEFINITION

Aggravated assault is an unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault is usually accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm. Attempts are included since it is not necessary that an injury result when a gun, knife, or other weapon is used which could and probably would result in serious personal injury if the crime were successfully completed.

TREND —
Number of offenses	Rate per 100,000 inhabitants

1,029,814	388.2
-6.3	-7.2
	Number of offenses 1,099,207 1,029,814

Aggravated assaults decreased in 1996, marking the third consecutive year of decline. Accounting for 61 percent of violent crimes in 1996, the total of 1,029,814 aggravated assaults represented a 6-percent drop for this offense.

Forty-one percent of the aggravated assault volume was accounted for by the Southern Region, the Nation's most populous area. Following were the Western Region with 24 percent, the Midwestern Region with 20 percent, and the Northeastern Region with 15 percent. All of the Nation's regions registered decreases in the number of reported aggravated assaults. (See Table 4.)

The 1996 monthly figures show that the greatest number of aggravated assaults was recorded during July while the lowest volume occurred during February and November.

Table 2.23 — Aggravated Assault by Month, 1992-1996 [Percent distribution]

The Nation's cities collectively experienced a decrease of 7 percent in the aggravated assault volume from 1995 to 1996. Among all city population groupings, decreases ranged from 9 percent in cities with populations from 50,000 to 99,999 to 4 percent in cities with 500,000 to 999,999 inhabitants. The number of aggravated assaults decreased 9 percent in suburban counties and 5 percent in the rural counties during the same 2-year period. (See Table 12.)

Five- and 10-year trends for the country as a whole show aggravated assaults 9 percent lower than in 1992 and 20 percent above the 1987 figure. (See Table 1.)

Rate

In 1996, there were 388 reported victims of aggravated assault for every 100,000 people nationwide, the lowest rate since 1989. The rate was 7 percent lower than in 1995 and 12 percent below the 1992 rate. The 1996 rate was, however, 11 percent higher than the 1987 rate.

Higher than the national average, the rate in metropolitan areas was 424 per 100,000 inhabitants in 1996. Cities outside metropolitan areas experienced a rate of 350 and rural counties, a rate of 177.

Regionally, the aggravated assault rate was 293 per 100,000 people in the Northeast, 331 in the Midwest, 428 in the West, and 454 in the South. Compared to 1995 rates, 1996 aggravated assault rates were down in all regions. The West marked an 11-percent decline, the Northeast and Midwest each recorded declines of 8 percent, and the South registered a 4-percent drop. (See Table 4.)

Nature

In 1996, 34 percent of the aggravated assaults were committed with blunt objects or other dangerous weapons. Personal weapons such as hands, fists, and feet were used in 26 percent of the assaults; firearms in 22 percent; and knives or cutting instruments in 18 percent.

When broken down by weapon, aggravated assaults in all four weapon categories decreased from the previous year's totals. Assault decreases were as follows: firearms, 10 percent; personal weapons (hands, fists, feet, etc.), 9 percent; knives or other cutting instruments, 7 percent; and other dangerous weapons, 3 percent. State-by-state totals for weapons used in assaults during 1996 are shown in Table 22.

Law Enforcement Response

During 1996, law enforcement agencies nationwide recorded a 58-percent aggravated assault clearance rate. The cities collectively reported 57 percent cleared, while the suburban and rural county law enforcement agencies cleared 61 and 65 percent, respectively. Among the city groupings, those with populations under 10,000 recorded the highest assault clearance rate, 67 percent. (See Table 25.)

Regional clearance percentages for aggravated assault were 59 percent in the Northeast, 58 percent in the West and South, and 55 percent in the Midwest.

Persons under age 18 were identified as the assailants in 12 percent of the clearances reported nationally, in cities, and in the suburban counties. Ten percent of the clearances reported in rural counties involved persons in this age group.

Seven of every 10 violent crime arrests were for aggravated assault. An estimated half a million individuals were arrested for this offense during 1996. Of these arrestees, 60 percent were white, 38 percent were black, and all other races comprised the remaining 2 percent. Eighty-two percent of the arrestees were males; 85 percent were adults.

Arrests for aggravated assault were down 3 percent in 1996 from the 1995 total. During this 2-year period, arrests of adults also were down 3 percent, and arrests of persons under age 18 decreased 4 percent. A 5-year comparison of 1992 and 1996 figures show increases of 4 percent for both total arrests and those of adults. Juvenile aggravated assault arrests increased 2 percent.

PROPERTY CRIME TOTAL

DEFINITION

Property crime includes the offenses of burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and ar son. The object of the theft-type offenses is the taking of money or property, but there is no force or threat of force against the victims. Arson is included since it involves the destruction of property; its victims may be subjected to force.

1995	12,063,935	4,591.3
1996	11,791,336	4,444.8
Percent change	-2.3	-3.2

In 1996, property crime dropped to its lowest level since 1986, with nearly 12 million offenses representing a 2-percent decline from the previous year's level. Five- and 10-year trends show the 1996 volume was 6 percent lower than the 1992 level and was 2 percent lower than in 1987.

During 1996, 40 percent of all property crimes were recorded in the Southern States, the most populous region in the country. Following were the Western States with 24 percent, the Midwestern States with 22 percent, and the Northeastern States with 15 percent.

A comparison of 1995 and 1996 regional property crime volumes showed declines of 7 percent in the West and 6 percent in the Northeast. The volume of property crime increased 2 percent in the South and showed virtually no change in the Midwest. (See Table 4.)

The Nation's cities collectively recorded a 3-percent drop in property crime decrease, with the greatest decline, 5 percent, in cities with populations of 1 million or more. The suburban counties also experienced a 3-percent decline, and rural county law enforcement agencies recorded a decrease of 2 percent. (See Table 12.)

In 1996, monthly figures show most property crime occurred in July and August while the lowest count was recorded in February.

Rate

There were an estimated 4,445 property crimes for every 100,000 United States inhabitants in 1996. The 1996 property crime rate was 3 percent lower than the 1995 rate, 9 percent below the 1992 rate, and 10 percent below the 1987 rate.

Geographically, 3 of 4 regions of the Nation registered property crime rate decreases in 1996 compared to the previous year's figures. With a rate of 4,837 per 100,000, the West showed the largest decline, 9 percent. The rate of 3,343 in the Northeast represented a 6-percent decrease; the rate of 4,127 in the Midwest represented a 1-percent decline. The South, with a rate of 5,020 per 100,000 inhabitants, recorded an increase of less than 1 percent.

Property crime rates for 1996 were 4,867 in cities outside metropolitan areas, 4,798 in metropolitan areas, and 1,828 in rural counties. By population group, the highest rate—7,877 per 100,000 inhabitants—was recorded in cities with populations from 250,000 to 499,999. (See Tables 2 and 16.)

Nature

The dollar value of property stolen in connection with property crimes in 1996 was estimated at over $15 billion. The average loss per offense in 1996 was $1,274, slightly more than the 1995 figure of $1,251.

In 1996, larceny-theft offenses accounted for 67 percent of all property crime. Burglary accounted for 21 percent and motor vehicle theft for 12 percent. Based on information from 11,250 law enforcement agencies who provided detailed arson data, nearly 77,000 arson offenses were reported in 1996. The average dollar loss of property damaged due to reported arsons was $10,280.

Law Enforcement Response

Property crimes generally have lower clearance rates than do violent crimes, and in 1996, the overall property crime clearance rate was 18 percent, as compared to 47 percent for violent crime. By region, property crime clearance rates of 19 percent were recorded in both the Northeast and South, the Midwest recorded 18 percent, and the West recorded 17 percent. (See Table 26.)

During 1996, 23 percent of the property crimes cleared nationwide by law enforcement involved only young people under age 18. The juvenile percentage was 24 percent in cities, 21 percent in the suburban counties, and 20 percent in the rural counties. (See Table 28.)

The estimated 2,045,600 persons arrested for property crimes in 1996 accounted for 13 percent of all arrestees. Property crime arrests in 1996 were 2 percent below the 1995 level, 6 percent lower than the 1992 total, and 1 percent below the 1987 figures. Compared to 1995 totals, arrests of juveniles fell by less than 1 percent, and arrests of adults for property crimes declined 3 percent nationwide. (See Tables 32, 34, and 36.)

In 1996, 72 percent of all property crime arrestees were males, 65 percent of the total were white, and 65 percent were over the age of 18.

BURGLARY

DEFINITION

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program defines burglary as the unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or theft. The use of force to gain entry is not required to classify an offense as burglary. Burglary in this Program is categorized into three subclassifications: forcible entry, unlawful entry where no force is used, and attempted forcible entry.

Year	Number of offenses	Rate per 100,000 inhabitants
1995	2,593,784	987.1
1996	2,501,524	943.0
Percent change	-3.6	-4.5

During 1996, the estimated 2.5 million burglaries in the United States was the lowest total in more than two decades. Distribution figures for the regions showed that the highest burglary volume in 1996, 42 percent, occurred in the most populous Southern States. The Western States followed with 23 percent, the Midwestern States with 20 percent, and the Northeastern States with 14 percent. (See Table 3.)

In 1996, the greatest number of burglaries occurred during July while the lowest number took place in February. (See Table 2.26.)

Table 2.26 — Burglary by Month, 1992-1996 [Percent distribution]

Months	1992	1993	1994	1995	1996

November	8.2	8.1	8.4	8.3	8.0
December	8.3	9.3	7.9	8.1	8.5

The burglary volume dropped 4 percent nationwide during 1996 as compared to the 1995 total. By population group, the Nation's cities overall experienced a 4-percent decline; the largest decrease was in cities with populations of 1 million and over, which showed a 7-percent decline. Suburban and rural counties also recorded decreases, 6 percent and 3 percent, respectively. (See Table 12.)

Three of the four regions of the United States reported decreases in burglary volumes in 1996 as compared to the previous year's figures. The Northeastern States registered a 9-percent decline; the Western States, an 8-percent decrease; and the Midwestern States, a 2-percent decline. The Southern States recorded a 1-percent increase in burglary volumes. (See Table 4.)

Long-term national trends show burglary down 16 percent from the 1992 level and down 23 percent compared to the 1987 volume.

Rate

The burglary rate in 1996, lower than in any other year in more than two decades, was 943 per 100,000 inhabitants nationwide. The rate was 4 percent lower than in 1995, down 19 percent from the 1992 level, and 29 percent below the 1987 rate. In 1996, the burglary rate for every 100,000 in population was 993 in the metropolitan areas, 935 in the cities outside metropolitan areas, and 620 in the rural counties.

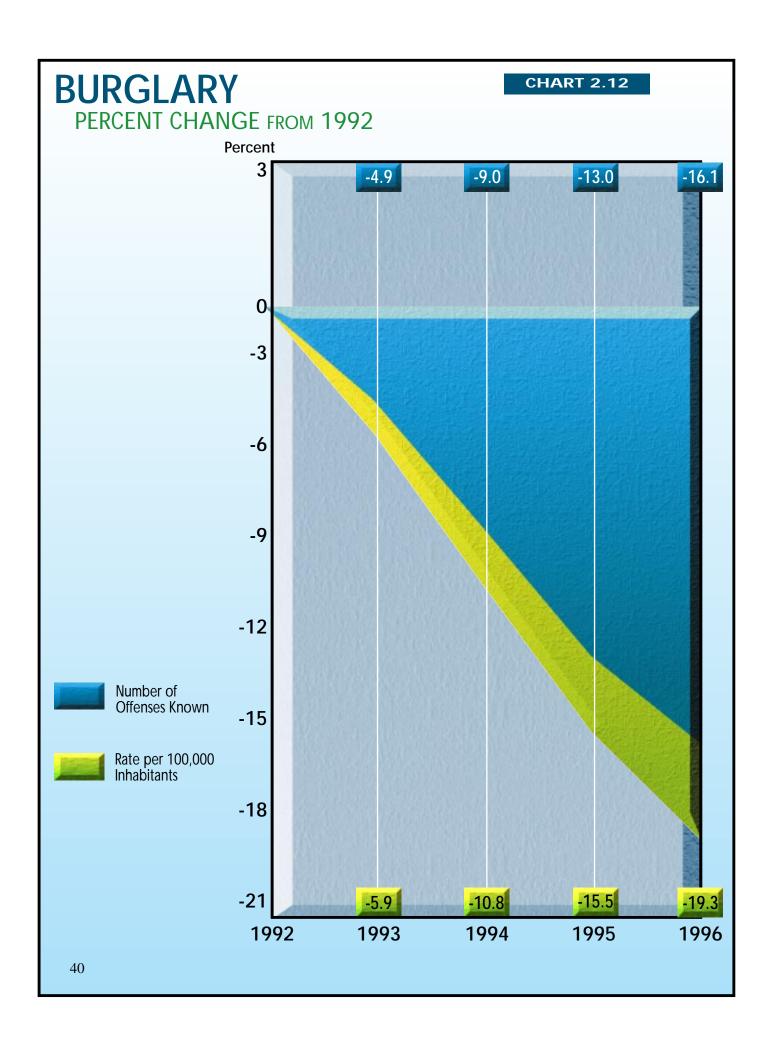

Looking at the Nation's regions, the burglary rate was 1,129 in the Southern States, 1,003 in the Western States, 817 in the Midwestern States, and 691 in the Northeastern States. A comparison of 1995 and 1996 rates showed declines of 10 percent in the West, 9 percent in the Northeast, 3 percent in the Midwest, and 1 percent in the South. (See Table 4.)

Nature

As in previous years, 2 of every 3 burglaries in 1996 were residential in nature. Sixty-six percent of all burglaries involved forcible entry, 26 percent were unlawful entries (without force), and the remainder were forcible entry attempts. Offenses for which time of occurrence was reported showed that 51 percent of burglaries happened during daytime hours and 49 percent at night. Fifty-nine percent of residential burglaries occurred during the daytime, and 65 percent of nonresidential burglaries occurred during nighttime hours.

Losses estimated at $3.3 billion in 1996 were suffered by burglary victims, and the average dollar loss per burglary was $1,332. The average loss for residential offenses was $1,350 and for nonresidential offenses, $1,296. Compared to 1995 losses, the 1996 average loss for both residential and nonresidential property increased.

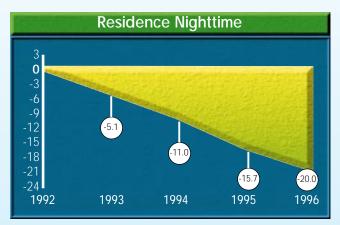

Both residential and nonresidential burglary volumes declined 4 percent in 1996 from the previous year's figures. (See Table 23.)

BURGLARY Percent Change from 1992

Law Enforcement Response

During 1996, a 14-percent clearance rate was recorded for burglaries brought to the attention of law enforcement agencies throughout the country. Regionally, in both the Northeast and South, the clearance rate was 15 percent; in the Midwest, it was 13 percent; and in the West, it was 12 percent. (See Table 26.)

Rural county law enforcement agencies cleared 18 percent of the burglaries in their jurisdictions. Agencies in suburban counties cleared 14 percent, and those in cities cleared 13 percent. (See Table 25.)

Adults were involved in 79 percent of all burglary offenses cleared; the remaining 21 percent involved only young people under 18 years of age. Persons under age 18 accounted for 20 percent of the burglary clearances in cities and 22 percent of those in both rural and suburban counties. The highest degree of juvenile involvement was recorded in the Nation's smallest cities (under 10,000 in population) where young persons under 18 years of age accounted for 28 percent of the clearances. (See Table 28.)

In the UCR Program, several persons may be arrested in connection with the clearance of one crime, or the arrest of one individual may clear numerous offenses. The latter is often true in cases of burglary for which an estimated 364,800 arrests were made in 1996.

Between 1995 and 1996, total burglary arrests were down 3 percent with arrests of adults down 6 percent. Arrests of persons under 18 years of age increased 3 percent. For the same 2-year time period, total burglary arrest trends showed a decrease of 4 percent in the Nation's cities. Arrests for burglary in rural counties remained unchanged from the 1995 total while a 1-percent increase was reported in suburban counties.

Eighty-nine percent of the burglary arrestees during 1996 were males, and 64 percent of the total were under 25 years of age. Among all burglary arrestees, whites accounted for 68 percent, blacks for 30 percent, and other races for the remainder.

LARCENY-THEFT

DEFINITION

Larceny-theft is the unlawful taking, carrying, leading, or riding away of property from the possession or constructive possession of another. It includes crimes such as shoplifting, pocket-picking, purse-snatching, thefts from motor vehicles, thefts of motor vehicle parts and accessories, bicycle thefts, etc., in which no use of force, violence, or fraud occurs. In the Uniform Crime Reporting Program, this crime category does not include embezzlement, confidence games, forgery, and worthless checks. Motor vehicle theft is also excluded from this category inasmuch as it is a separate Crime Index offense.

	TREND	Rate per 100,000

1995	7,997,710	3,043.8
1996	7,894,620	2,975.9
Percent change	-1.3	-2.2

Estimated at nearly 7.9 million offenses during 1996, larceny-theft comprised 59 percent of the Crime Index total and 67 percent of the property crimes. Continuing the pattern of recent years, larceny-thefts were recorded most often during the months of July and August and least frequently in February.

December	8.0	9.1	7.9	8.1	8.0

The Nation's most populous region, the Southern States, recorded 40 percent of the larceny-theft total. Both the Western States and Midwestern States recorded 23 percent, and the Northeastern States, 14 percent. (See Table 3.)

In 1996, the volume of larceny-thefts nationwide was 1 percent lower than the 1995 total. By community type, decreases of 2 percent were recorded both in cities collectively and suburban counties. A 1-percent decline was experienced in the rural counties. (See Table 12.)

In two of the four geographic regions, incidents of larcenytheft decreased from 1995 levels. The decreases were 6 percent in the West and 5 percent in the Northeast. The South recorded an increase of 2 percent, and the Midwest showed an increase of less than 1 percent. (See Table 4.)

An examination of long-term national trends indicated larceny was up 5 percent when compared to the 1987 total. However, there was virtually no change when compared to the 1992 level. (See Table 1.)

Rate

During 1996, the larceny-theft rate was 2,976 per 100,000 inhabitants in the United States. Two-, 5-, and 10-year trends show the rate was 2 percent below the 1995 rate, 4 percent lower than the rate in 1992, and 3 percent below the 1987 rate. The 1996 rate was 3,188 per 100,000 inhabitants of metropolitan areas; 3,695 per 100,000 population in cities outside metropolitan areas; and 1,083 per 100,000 people in the rural counties. (See Tables 1 and 2.)

By region, the 1996 larceny-theft rate per 100,000 inhabitants in the South increased 1 percent. The West recorded an

8-percent decline, and the Northeast marked a 5-percent drop. The Midwest's rate showed virtually no change from the 1995 level. The regional rates ranged from 2,181 per 100,000 people in the Northeast to 3,368 per 100,000 population in the South. (See Table 4.)

Nature

During 1996, the average value of property stolen due to larceny-theft was $532, down from $535 in 1995. When the average value was applied to the estimated number of larceny-thefts, the loss to victims nationally was over $4 billion for the year. This estimated dollar loss is considered conservative since many offenses in the larceny category never come to law enforcement attention, particularly if the value of the stolen goods is small. Losses under $50 and those over $200 jointly accounted for 77 percent of the thefts reported to law enforcement. The remainder involved losses ranging from $50 to $200.

Losses of goods and property reported stolen as a result of pocket-picking averaged $320; purse-snatching, $296; and shop-lifting, $120. The average value loss due to thefts of motor vehicle accessories was $387 and for thefts of bicycles, $263. Thefts from buildings resulted in an average loss of $894; from motor vehicles, $518; and from coin-operated machines, $296. (See Table 23.)

Thefts of motor vehicle parts, accessories, and contents made up the largest portion of reported larcenies—36 percent. Also contributing to the high volume of thefts were shoplifting, accounting for 15 percent; thefts from buildings, 13 percent; and thefts of bicycles, 6 percent. The remainder was distributed among pocket-picking, purse-snatching, thefts from coin-operated machines, and all other types of larceny-thefts. Table 2.28 presents the distribution of larceny-theft by type and geographic region.

LARCENY-THEFT 1996

Percent Distribution by Type of Theft

Law Enforcement Response

In 1996, the national larceny-theft clearance rate was 20 percent, and in the Nation's cities, the rate was 21 percent. As in recent years, the highest rate, 26 percent, was reported by law enforcement agencies in cities from 10,000 to 24,999 in population. Agencies in rural counties reported a 20-percent clearance rate, and those in suburban counties recorded an 18-percent clearance rate.

A review of clearance rates by geographic region indicates that 21 percent of the larceny-thefts reported in the Northeast were cleared. Twenty percent of the reported larceny-thefts were cleared in both the South and the Midwest, and 19 percent were cleared in the West. (See Table 26.)

Twenty-four percent of the larceny-theft clearances in the Nation and 25 percent in cities involved only offenders under 18 years of age. Twenty-one percent of those in suburban counties and 19 percent of those in rural counties were accounted for by persons in this age group.

Between 1995 and 1996, the total number of persons arrested for larceny-theft fell 1 percent; arrests of males and those of adults declined 2 percent. During this same period, arrests of juveniles (persons under 18 years of age) increased less than 1 percent, and arrests of females increased 1 percent.

Considering the 5-year period, 1992-1996, larceny-theft arrests declined 2 percent. Arrests of males declined 5 percent; however, arrests of females increased 5 percent. During the same timespan, the number of arrests of adults dropped 6 percent while arrests of persons under the age of 18 were up 9 percent.

Larceny-theft not only comprised the largest portion of Crime Index offenses reported to law enforcement, but also accounted for 73 percent of arrests for property crimes in 1996 and 54 percent of total arrests for all Index crimes. Forty-seven percent of the larceny arrests were of persons under 21 years of age, and 34 percent of the arrestees were under 18. Females, who were arrested for this offense more often than for any other in 1996, comprised 34 percent of all larceny-theft arrestees.

Whites accounted for 65 percent of the total larceny-theft arrestees, blacks for 32 percent, and all other races for the remainder.

MOTOR VEHICLE THEFT

DEFINITION

Defined as the theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle, this offense category includes the stealing of automobiles, trucks, buses, motorcycles, motorscooters, snowmobiles, etc. The definition excludes the taking of a motor vehicle for temporary use by those persons having lawful access.

Year	Number of offenses	Rate per 100,000 inhabitants
.995	1,472,441	560.4
1996	1,395,192	525.9
Percent change	-5.2	-6.2

During 1996, there were nearly 1.4 million thefts of motor vehicles nationwide, marking the lowest total for that offense since 1987. The regional distribution of thefts in 1996 showed 35 percent of the volume was in the Southern States, 28 percent in the Western States, 20 percent in the Midwestern States, and 17 percent in the Northeastern States. (See Table 3.)

An examination of the monthly distribution of motor vehicle thefts reveals the highest percentage of vehicles was stolen during the months of January and July, and the lowest percentage was stolen in February and April. (See Table 2.29.)

Table 2.29 — Motor Vehicle Theft by Month, 1992-1996 [Percent distribution]

Months	1992	1993	1994	1995	1996

November	8.3	8.3	8.4	8.5	8.2
December	8.2	8.8	7.8	8.3	8.5

In the Nation and in cities as a whole, motor vehicle thefts declined 5 percent from 1995 to 1996. Among city population groupings, the decreases ranged from 7 percent in cities 1 million and over in population and those with populations of 100,000 to 499,999 to less than 1 percent in cities with populations under 25,000. During the same 2-year period, a 6-percent decrease in the volume of motor vehicle thefts occurred in suburban counties, while rural counties registered virtually no change. (See Table 12.)

Geographically, decreases in motor vehicle thefts were recorded in the West, with 12 percent; in the Northeast, with 8 percent; and in the Midwest, with 1 percent. The South recorded virtually no change. (See Table 4.)

Chart 2.17 shows that the volume of motor vehicle thefts in 1996 declined 13 percent from the 1992 volume.

Rate

The 1996 national motor vehicle theft rate—526 per 100,000 inhabitants—was 6 percent lower than in 1995 and 17 percent below the 1992 rate. The 1996 rate was less than 1 percent below the 1987 rate.

For every 100,000 inhabitants living in metropolitan areas, there were 616 motor vehicle thefts reported in 1996. The rate in cities outside metropolitan areas was 238 and that in rural counties, 126. As in previous years, the highest rates were in the Nation's most heavily populated municipalities, indicating that this offense is primarily a large-city problem. For every 100,000 inhabitants in cities with populations over 250,000, the 1996 motor vehicle theft rate was 1,223. The Nation's smallest cities, those with fewer than 10,000 inhabitants, recorded a rate of 247 per 100,000.

Among all regions of the country, motor vehicle theft rates ranged from 666 per 100,000 inhabitants in the Western States to 443 in the Midwestern States. The Southern States' rate was 524, and the Northeastern States' rate was 472. All regions registered rate declines from 1995 to 1996. The West reported the greatest rate decrease, 13 percent. The Northeast reported a decrease of 9 percent; the Midwest, a decrease of 2 percent; and the South, a decrease of 1 percent. (See Table 4.)

An estimated average of 1 of every 147 registered motor vehicles was stolen nationwide during 1996. Regionally, this rate was greatest in the West where 1 of every 114 motor vehicles registered was stolen. The other three regions reported lesser rates—1 per 147 in the Northeast, 1 per 149 in the South, and 1 per 191 in the Midwest.

Nature

The estimated value of motor vehicles stolen nationwide in 1996 was nearly $7.5 billion. At the time of theft, the average value per vehicle was $5,372. The recovery percentage for the value of vehicles stolen was higher than for any other property type. Relating the value of vehicles stolen to the value of those recovered resulted in a 68-percent recovery rate for 1996. (See Tables 23 and 24.)

Seventy-eight percent of all motor vehicles reported stolen during the year were automobiles, 16 percent were trucks or buses, and the remainder were other types. (See Table 2.30.)

Law Enforcement Response

Law enforcement agencies nationwide recorded a 14-percent motor vehicle theft clearance rate for 1996. Those in cities cleared 13 percent; those in suburban counties cleared 16 percent; and rural county agencies cleared 32 percent. (See Table 25.)

Regional clearance percentages for motor vehicle theft were 18 percent for the Southern States, 16 percent for the Midwestern States, and 11 percent for both the Northeastern and Western States. (See Table 26.)

Persons in the under 18 age group accounted for 22 percent of the motor vehicle thefts cleared nationally. They comprised 23 percent of the clearances in cities, 22 percent in rural counties, and 19 percent in suburban counties. (See Table 28.)

An estimated 175,400 individuals were arrested for motor vehicle theft in 1996. Males accounted for 86 percent of those arrested. Fifty-seven percent of the arrestees were white, 40 percent were black, and the remainder were of other races.

When considering age of arrestees for the offense of motor vehicle theft, a large portion of arrests came from the younger segment of the Nation's population. In 1996, 59 percent of all persons arrested for this offense were under 21 years of age, and those under 18 comprised 42 percent of the total. Between 1995 and 1996, arrests of persons under age 18 were down 10 percent. Arrests of juvenile males decreased 10 percent, and those of young females decreased 8 percent.

Fifty-eight percent of motor vehicle theft arrests were for adults, a decline of 8 percent from the 1995 figure.

Total motor vehicle theft arrests in 1996 were down 9 percent from the previous year's total and 16 percent lower than in 1992. Compared to the 1987 level, however, the arrest total increased 2 percent.

ARSON

- DEFINITION -

Arson is defined by the Uniform Crime Reporting Program as any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

Only fires determined through investigation to have been willfully or maliciously set are classified as arsons. Fires of suspicious or unknown origins are excluded.

A total of 88,887 arson offenses was reported in 1996 by 11,453 law enforcement agencies across the Nation; these agencies furnished from 1 to 12 months of reports during the year. Among these reporting agencies, 11,250 provided the detailed information—type of structure, estimated monetary value of the property damaged, etc.—from which the tables on the accompanying pages were tabulated. Further information regarding arson offenses and trends is presented in Tables 12 through 15 and arson clearances in Tables 25 through 28. Since only 8,325 agencies covering 68 percent of the United States population submitted reports for all 12 months of the year, the data user should be aware that, while conservative indicators, the figures do not represent the Nation's total arson experience.

The number of arson offenses reported nationally and in the Nation's cities during 1996 decreased 3 percent from 1995 figures. While the number of arson offenses dropped in the Nation's cities collectively, changes among the population groupings ranged from an 11-percent decrease in cities with populations 100,000 to 249,999 to a 9-percent increase in cities with populations over 1 million. The rural counties showed a decline of 3 percent while the suburban counties registered an increase of 2 percent. (See Table 12.)

Regionally, the number of arson offenses decreased 15 percent in the Northeast and 1 percent each in the Midwest and West. The South recorded an increase of 2 percent in arson occurrences.

Nationally, the number of arsons involving structures declined 12 percent, and those involving all other property declined 7 percent. Mobile property registered a 6-percent increase in the number of arsons. (See Table 15.)

Table 2.31 — Arson Rate, Population Group, 1996 [8,325 agencies; 1996 estimated population 180,643,000; rate per 100,000 inhabitants]

It is recommended to use caution when viewing arson trend information. The percent change figures may have been influenced by improved arson reporting procedures. It is expected that year-to-year statistical comparability will improve as collection continues.

Rate

Since population coverage for arson data is lower than for the other Crime Index offenses, arson rates per 100,000 inhabitants are tabulated independently. Based only on figures from law enforcement agencies supplying 12 months of statistics for all Index crimes including arson the 1996 rates are shown in Table 2.31.

Arson rates ranged from 90 per 100,000 inhabitants in cities with populations over 1 million to 19 per 100,000 rural county inhabitants. The suburban counties and all cities collectively recorded rates of 33 and 51 per 100,000 inhabitants, respectively. Nationally, the 1996 arson rate was 44 per 100,000 population.

Geographically, the highest arson rate was registered in the Western States with 49 offenses per 100,000 population. Following were the Midwestern and Southern States each with rates of 43 per 100,000, and the Northeastern States with 40 per 100,000.

Nature

As in previous years, structures were the most frequent targets of arsonists in 1996 and comprised 48 percent of the reported incidents. Twenty-nine percent of the arsons were directed at mobile property (motor vehicles, trailers, etc.), while other types of property (crops, timber, etc.) accounted for 23 percent. (See Table 2.32.)

Fifty-nine percent of the structural arsons during the year involved residential property, with 40 percent of such offenses directed at single-family dwellings. Twenty percent of all targeted structural property was either uninhabited or abandoned at the time the arson occurred.

Motor vehicles comprised 94 percent of all mobile property at which arsons were directed.

Law Enforcement Response

The 1996 arson clearance rate was 16 percent nationwide and in cities. Rural county agencies cleared 26 percent; and those in suburban counties, 16 percent. Law enforcement agencies in cities with fewer than 10,000 inhabitants showed the highest rate, clearing 26 percent of the arson offenses brought to their attention. (See Table 25.)

Regionally, the Southern States recorded an arson clearance rate of 20 percent; the Midwestern States, 16 percent; the Western States, 15 percent; and the Northeastern States, 14 percent.

Forty-five percent of all 1996 arson clearances involved only young people under age 18, a higher percentage of juvenile involvement than for any other Index crime. Persons in this age group accounted for 25 percent of the clearances for arsons of mobile property, 44 percent of structural arson clearances, and 61 percent of those of all other property. Juveniles were the offenders in 48 percent of the city, 41 percent of the suburban county, and 29 percent of the rural county arson clearances.

The accompanying tables show clearance data by type for the structural and mobile classifications. As shown in Table 2.35, the highest clearance rate, 29 percent, was recorded for arsons of community/public structures, while the lowest rate, 8 percent, was registered for motor vehicles.

An estimated 19,000 arrests for arson were made during 1996. Fifty-three percent of the arrestees were under 18 years of age and 70 percent were under 25. Males comprised 85 percent of all arson arrestees. Seventy-four percent of those arrested were white, 24 percent were black, and the remainder were of other races.

Trends for 1995 versus 1996 show arson arrests decreased 7 percent nationally and in cities. Decreases of 6 percent occurred in suburban counties and 4 percent in rural counties.

Nationwide, arrests of juveniles for arson were down 6 percent, and adult arrests dropped 8 percent from 1995 to 1996.

During the same period, male arrests decreased 6 percent, and female arrests fell 12 percent. The 1996 arson arrest total for all ages was 2 percent lower than in 1992 and 5 percent above the 1987 level.

HATE CRIME

— DEFINITION —

A hate crime, also known as a bias crime, is a criminal offense committed against a person, property, or society which is motivated, in whole or in part, by the offender's bias against a race, religion, ethnic/national origin group, or sexual-orientation group.

Background

In response to a growing concern about hate crimes, Congress, on April 23, 1990, enacted the Hate Crime Statistics Act of 1990. The Attorney General designated the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program to develop a hate crime data collection system for its voluntary law enforcement agency participants which would include data "about crimes that manifest evidence of prejudice based on race, religion, ethnicity, and sexual orientation." In September 1994, the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act amended the Hate Crime Statistics Act to add disabilities, both physical and mental, as factors that could be considered a basis for hate crimes. The disability bias data collection began in January 1997.

Hate crimes are not separate, distinct crimes, but rather traditional offenses motivated by the offender's bias; therefore, hate crime data can be collected by capturing additional information about offenses being reported to UCR. Included are the offenses of murder and nonnegligent manslaughter; forcible rape; aggravated assault, simple assault, and intimidation; robbery; burglary; larceny-theft; motor vehicle theft; arson; and destruction, damage, or vandalism of property.

Hate crime data are submitted to the FBI on a Quarterly Hate Crime Report which consists of a quarterly summary and an incident report for each bias incident. Agencies participating in the National Incident-Based Reporting System are able to include the hate crime data element in their submissions via magnetic tape.

The following statistics are a representation of the data received from law enforcement agencies that provided 1 to 12 months of hate crime reports during 1996. More detailed information concerning characteristics of hate crime can be found in the UCR annual publication Hate Crime Statistics.

Nature

In 1996, crimes against persons comprised 69 percent of the 10,702 offenses reported. Intimidation was the single most frequently reported hate crime among all offenses measured, accounting for 38 percent of the total. Of the crimes against persons, intimidation accounted for 56 percent, while simpleassault and aggravated assault represented 24 percent and 20 percent, respectively. Destruction, damage, or vandalism was the most frequently reported offense of hate crime against property, accounting for 86 percent.

Law Enforcement Participation

The law enforcement community recognizes that valid information is central to developing effective measures to deal with hate crime. Law enforcement participation in reporting bias-motivated crimes to UCR continues to grow each year as more agencies provide the needed information on their jurisdictions' experiences. Participation of individual law enforcement agencies has increased from 2,766 in 1991 to 11,355 in 1996.

Data for 1996 were supplied by 11,355 law enforcement agencies in 49 states and the District of Columbia and represented nearly 224 million United States inhabitants or approximately 84 percent of the Nation's population. (See Table 2.38.) Reports from these agencies, while not sufficient to allow valid national or regional measures of the volume and types of crimes motivated by hate, offer perspectives on the general nature of hate crime occurrences.

Crime Index Tabulations

This Section's tabular portions present data on crime in the United States as a whole; geographic divisions; individual states; Metropolitan Statistical Areas; cities, towns, and counties; and college and university campuses. Also furnished in the following tables are national averages for the value of property stolen in connection with Crime Index offenses; further breakdowns by type for the robbery, burglary, larceny-theft, and arson classifications; information on the types of weapons used; and data on the type and value of property stolen and recovered.

Although the total number of crimes occurring throughout the Nation is unknown, information on those reported to law enforcement gives a reliable indication of criminal activity. In reviewing the tables in this report, it must be remembered, however, that many factors can cause the volume and type of crime to vary from place to place. Even though population, one of these factors, is used in computing crime rates, all communities are affected to some degree by seasonal or transient populations. Since counts of current, permanent population are used in their construction, crime rates do not account for short-term population variables, such as an influx of day workers, tourists, shoppers, etc. A further discussion of various factors contributing to the amount of crime in a given area is presented on page iv of this publication.

National data can serve as a guide for the law enforcement administrator in analyzing the local crime count, as well as the performance of the jurisdiction's law enforcement agency. The analysis, however, should not end with a comparison based on data presented in this publication. It is only through an appraisal of local conditions that a true assessment of the community crime problem or the effectiveness of the law enforcement operation is possible.

National estimates of volume and rate per 100,000 inhabitants for all Crime Index offenses covering the past two decades are set forth in Table 1, "Index of Crime, United States, 1977-1996."

Table 2, "Index of Crime, United States, 1996," shows current year estimates for MSAs, rural counties, and cities and towns outside metropolitan areas. See Appendix III for the definitions of these community types.

Provided in Table 3, "Index of Crime, Regional Offense and Population Distribution, 1996," are data showing the geographical distribution of estimated Index crimes and population. When utilizing figures presented on a regional basis in this publication, the reader is cautioned to consider each region's proportion of the total United States population. For example, although the Southern States accounted for the largest volume of Crime Index offenses in 1996, they also represented the greatest regional population.

Note

The collection of statistics on arson as a Crime Index offense began in 1979. However, 1996 annual figures are not available for inclusion in tables presenting statistics for the total United States. Arson totals reported by individual law enforcement agencies are displayed in Tables 8 through 11. Two-year arson trends are shown in Tables 12 through 15.

&lt;sup>1</sup> Populations are Bureau of the Census provisional estimates as of July 1, except 1980 and 1990 which are the decennial census counts.

All rates were calculated on the offenses before rounding.

Complete data were not available for the states of Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, and Montana; therefore, it was necessary that their crime counts be estimated. An aggregate Florida state total for 1996 was supplied by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement. See "Offense Estimation," pages 389-390 for details.

Offense totals are based on all reporting agencies and estimates for unreported areas.

Offense totals are based on all reporting agencies and estimates for unreported areas.

<sup>8</sup> The 1996 Bureau of the Census population estimate for Puerto Rico was not available prior to publication; therefore, no population or rates per 100,000 inhabitants are provided. Complete data were not available for the states of Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Montana, and Vermont; therefore, it was necessary that their crime counts be estimated. An aggregate Florida state total for 1996 was supplied by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement. See "Offense Estimation," pages 389-390 for details.

<sup>2</sup> Forcible rape figures furnished by the state-level Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program administered by the Illinois Department of State Police were not in accordance with national UCR guidelines. Therefore, the figures were excluded from the forcible rape, Crime Index total, and Modified Crime Index total categories.

&lt;sup>5</sup> Complete data were not available for the states of Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Montana, and Vermont; therefore, it was necessary that their crime counts be estimated. An aggregate Florida state total for 1996 was supplied by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement. See "Offense Estimation," pages 389-390 for details.

NOTE: Caution should be exercised in making any inter-campus comparisons or ranking schools, as university/college crime statistics are affected by a variety of factors. These include: demographic characteristics of the surrounding community, ratio of male to female students, number of on-campus residents, accessibility of outside visitors, size of enrollment, etc.

Table 10. — Number of Offenses Known to the Police, Suburban Counties, 1996

[The data shown in this table do not reflect county totals but are the number of offenses reported by the sheriff's office, county police department, or state police.]

County by State	Crime Index total	Modified* Crime Index total	Murder and non- negligent man- slaughter	Forcible rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary	Larceny- theft	Motor vehicle theft	Arson*

Table 11. — Number of Offenses Known to the Police, Rural Counties 25,000 and over in Population, 1996

[The data shown in this table do not reflect county totals but are the number of offenses reported by the sheriff's office, county police department, or state police.]

&lt;sup>1</sup> The number of agency reports used in arson trends is less than used in compiling trends for other Crime Index offenses. It is not necessary to report arson by property classification to be included in this table. The Modified Crime Index total is the sum of the Crime Index offenses, including arson.

Complete data for 1996 were not available for the states of Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, and Montana. See "Offense Estimation," pages 389-390 for details.

Complete data for 1996 were not available for the states of Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Montana, and Vermont. See "Offense Estimation," pages 389-390 for details.

&lt;sup>5</sup> Includes suburban city and county law enforcement agencies within metropolitan areas. Excludes central cities. Suburban cities and counties are also included in other groups. Population figures were rounded to the nearest thousand. All rates were calculated on the population before rounding.

Forcible rape figures furnished by the state-level Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program administered by the Illinois State Police were not in accordance with national UCR guidelines. See Appendix 1 for details.

Population figures were rounded to the nearest thousand. All rates were calculated on the population before rounding.

Forcible rape figures furnished by the state-level Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program administered by the Illinois State Police were not in accordance with national UCR guidelines. See Appendix I for details.

Complete data for 1996 were not available for the states of Florida, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Montana, and Vermont. See "Offense Estimation," pages 389-390 for details.
